

'You, Me and the SPP' exposes the secretive, anti-democratic, corporate agenda behind the Security & Prosperity Partnership

"After the shock of Sept. 11 ... that crisis was expertly manipulated by our political leaders to push through a range of policies they actually had wanted to push through before Sept. 11, but didn't have the political conditions that made that possible."

Naomi Klein, *Canadian award-winning journalist, author The Shock Doctrine

"What the SPP really represents is a parallel government, so that the important decisions are made outside of parliament and outside of legislatures ... democracy is slowly being gutted."

Murray Dobbin, Canadian author, journalist

"The ultimate goal, quite obviously, is to create such tight integration that effectively we only have one North American political, security, military, and economic place - that there really are no differentials between this country and the country next door."

Michael Byers, Canada Research Chair, Global Politics and International Law, UBC

"The SPP is a dumbing down, a reducing of quality of life, a reducing of standards, and there is absolutely no indication that we're looking for a higher standard anywhere."

Peter Julian, NDP International Trade Critic

www.youmespp.com

'You, Me and the SPP' exposes the secretive, anti-democratic, corporate agenda behind the Security & Prosperity Partnership

"After the shock of Sept. 11 ... that crisis was expertly manipulated by our political leaders to push through a range of policies they actually had wanted to push through before Sept. 11, but didn't have the political conditions that made that possible."

Naomi Klein, *Canadian award-winning journalist, author The Shock Doctrine

"What the SPP really represents is a parallel government, so that the important decisions are made outside of parliament and outside of legislatures ... democracy is slowly being gutted."

Murray Dobbin, Canadian author, journalist

"The ultimate goal, quite obviously, is to create such tight integration that effectively we only have one North American political, security, military, and economic place - that there really are no differentials between this country and the country next door."

Michael Byers, Canada Research Chair, Global Politics and International Law, UBC

"The SPP is a dumbing down, a reducing of quality of life, a reducing of standards, and there is absolutely no indication that we're looking for a higher standard anywhere."

Peter Julian, NDP International Trade Critic

www.youmespp.com

'You, Me and the SPP' exposes the secretive, anti-democratic, corporate agenda behind the Security & Prosperity Partnership

"After the shock of Sept. 11 ... that crisis was expertly manipulated by our political leaders to push through a range of policies they actually had wanted to push through before Sept. 11, but didn't have the political conditions that made that possible."

Naomi Klein, *Canadian award-winning journalist, author The Shock Doctrine

"What the SPP really represents is a parallel government, so that the important decisions are made outside of parliament and outside of legislatures ... democracy is slowly being gutted."

Murray Dobbin, Canadian author, journalist

"The ultimate goal, quite obviously, is to create such tight integration that effectively we only have one North American political, security, military, and economic place - that there really are no differentials between this country and the country next door."

Michael Byers, Canada Research Chair, Global Politics and International Law, UBC

"The SPP is a dumbing down, a reducing of quality of life, a reducing of standards, and there is absolutely no indication that we're looking for a higher standard anywhere."

Peter Julian, NDP International Trade Critic

www.youmespp.com

'You, Me and the SPP' exposes the secretive, anti-democratic, corporate agenda behind the Security & Prosperity Partnership

"After the shock of Sept. 11 ... that crisis was expertly manipulated by our political leaders to push through a range of policies they actually had wanted to push through before Sept. 11, but didn't have the political conditions that made that possible."

Naomi Klein, *Canadian award-winning journalist, author The Shock Doctrine

"What the SPP really represents is a parallel government, so that the important decisions are made outside of parliament and outside of legislatures ... democracy is slowly being gutted."

Murray Dobbin, Canadian author, journalist

"The ultimate goal, quite obviously, is to create such tight integration that effectively we only have one North American political, security, military, and economic place - that there really are no differentials between this country and the country next door."

Michael Byers, Canada Research Chair, Global Politics and International Law, UBC

"The SPP is a dumbing down, a reducing of quality of life, a reducing of standards, and there is absolutely no indication that we're looking for a higher standard anywhere."

Peter Julian, NDP International Trade Critic

www.youmespp.com